storms, droughts and floods are expected to have further severe negative implications for the poorest and most vulnerable. The report finds that agricultural yields will be affected across the three regions, with repercussions for food security, economic growth, and poverty reduction. In addition,

Urban areas have been identified as
new clusters of

vulnerability with

urban dwellers,

particularly the urban poor, facing

significant

vulnerability to climate change. In Sub-

3°C global warming,

savannas are

projected to decrease

from their current

levels to

approximately one-

seventh of total land

area and threaten

pastoral livelihoods.

Under 4° C warming,

total hyper-arid and

arid areas are

projected to expand

by 10 percent. In

South East Asia,

under 2° C warming,

heat extremes that are virtually absent today would cover nearly 60-70 percent of total land area in northern-hemisphere summer, adversely impacting ecosystems. Under 4° C warming, rural populations would face mounting pressures from sea-level rise, increased tropical cyclone

intensity, storm

surges, saltwater
intrusions, and loss of

services. In South

Asia, the potential

sudden onset of

disturbances to the

monsoon system and

rising peak

temperatures would

put water and food

resources at severe

risk. Well before 2°C
